A LETTER TO THE LITTLE ONE

AND THE LOVING HANDS THAT HOLD THEM

Dear Students

Somewhere in the hills of Mussoorie, where the mist wanders between the deodars and the mountains hum their old, unhurried songs, I sit by a window and write this letter to you.

I have spent a lifetime watching children discover the world and the world discover itself through them. I have seen a child stop to study a beetle, name a cloud, befriend a tree, and laugh at the wind as if it had told the finest joke. That is the kind of wonder we hope to protect at Ruskin Bond International School.

A school, I believe, should not be a place where curiosity is tamed, but where it is fed like breadcrumbs to the sparrows at my window. Here, your child will read stories, climb small hills of imagination, sing songs that have no right answer, paint the sky any colour they please, and learn that kindness is the first and most important subject.

"The best kind of learning begins with a giggle, a question, and a dirty pair of shoes."

To the parents thank you for placing your trust in us. Your child is not simply joining a school; they are joining a small, warm, story-loving family. The wonderful team at RBIS led with great care by Sidharth, Kunal, and Utpal has built this little world with love, and I am fortunate to walk alongside them in this journey. We promise to listen to your child, laugh with them, catch them when they stumble, and cheer them on when they soar. Childhood, after all, is the one season that does not return.

To the little one come in, come in! There are books waiting to be read, friends waiting to be made, and a world just your size waiting to be explored. Bring your questions. Bring your favourite crayons. Bring your laughter, especially the loud kind.

May your days here be full of stories, and may your stories be full of wonder.
